

Jean Monnet Series with the Canadian Centre for German and European Studies and the Department of Politics present

German Election 2017 Roundtable: Predictions and Implications

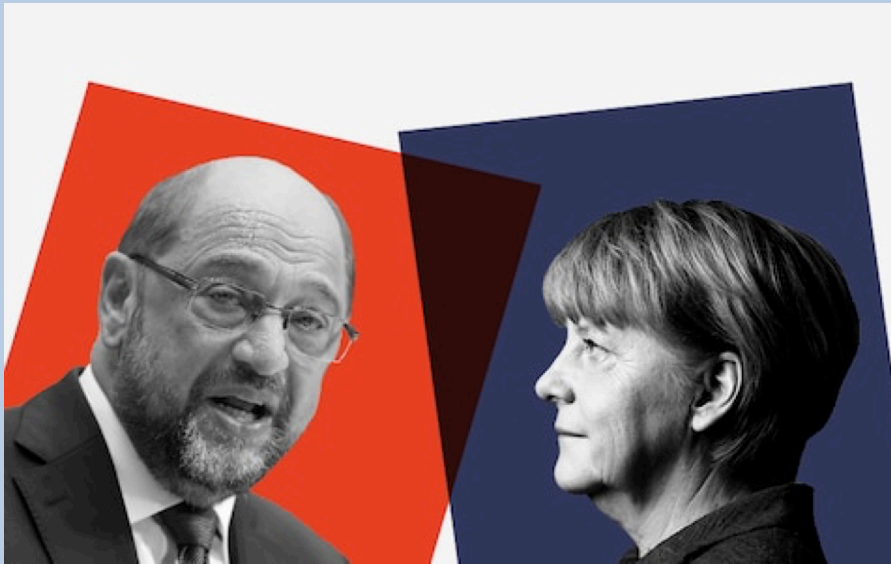

image from: <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/0/german-election-polls-odds-tracker-merkel-seeks-fourth-term1/>

Will Angela Merkel defend her position as Chancellor for a fourth term? What coalitions are likely? How will the results affect Canada, Europe and other regions? What will this mean for the refugee crisis? What role does the media play? Join us for a panel of experts on these and other questions.

Speakers include:

- Achim Hurrelmann, Jean Monnet Chair, Carleton University
- Ben Scott, Stiftung Neue Verantwortung, Berlin
- Heather MacRae, Jean Monnet Chair, York University
- Dagmar Soennecken, York University and University of Kiel, Germany

With an Introduction by Deputy Consul General
Michael Lauber.

Tuesday, September 19, 2017
2:30-4:30
Philip Dahdaleh Building 0006
(formerly TEL)

The event is sponsored by the Jean Monnet Chair at York University, Dr. Heather MacRae

